Today We Celebrate the Sixth Sunday of Ordinary Time

FROM OUR PASTOR

Dear Parishioners,

This coming Wednesday 18, when we will celebrate Ash Wednesday, we will hear: Render your hearts, not your garments, and return to the Lord, your God (Jl 2:13). These words will give beginning to the season of Lent, which points out “to the conversion of heart as the chief characteristic of this season of grace.” (Pope Francis, 05/05/14) And through the practices of prayer, fast and almsgiving as a way to unite ourselves with the Passion of our Lord, we will be led to the celebration of the Holy Week, the greatest week of all Christianity.

On such day, we, the faithful, according to an ancient custom are exhorted to approach the altar and to attend the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, where the priest, dipping his thumb into ashes previously blessed, will mark the forehead of each with the sign of the cross, saying the words: Remember man that thou art dust and unto dust thou shalt return. “The act of putting on ashes symbolizes fragility and mortality, and the need to be redeemed by the mercy of God. Far from being a merely external act, the Church has retained the use of ashes to symbolize that attitude of internal penance to which all the baptized are called during Lent.” (Directory on Popular Piety and the Liturgy) Therefore, this simple but profound sign is meant to express our desire to do penance, seek repentance and stir up contrition in our hearts for our sins.

The liturgical use of ashes originates in Old Testament times. For instance, in the Book of Esther, Mordecai put on sackcloth and ashes when he heard of the decree of King Ahasuerus of Persia to kill all of the Jewish people in the Persian Empire. (Est 4:1) Job repented in sackcloth and ashes. (Job 42:6) Prophesying the Babylonian captivity of Jerusalem, Daniel wrote, I turned to the Lord God, pleading in earnest prayer, with fasting, sackcloth and ashes. (Dn 9:3) So as you see, these Old Testament examples evidence both a recognized practice of using ashes and a common understanding of their symbolism.

In fact, Jesus Himself also made reference to ashes. Referring to towns that refused to repent of sin although they had witnessed the miracles and heard the good news, our Lord said, If the miracles worked in you had taken place in Tyre and Sidon, they would have reformed in sackcloth and ashes long ago. (Mt 11:21)

In our present liturgy for Ash Wednesday, we use ashes made from the burned palm branches distributed on the Palm Sunday of the previous year. The ashes are sprinkled with holy water and later incensed. The celebrant himself, receives the ashes from some other priest, usually the highest in dignity of those present. In earlier ages a penitential procession often followed the rite of the distribution of the ashes, but this is not now prescribed.

The message of Ash Wednesday is expressed with the words of St. Paul in the second reading for that day: We are ambassadors for Christ, God making his appeal through us. We beseech you on behalf of Christ, be reconciled to God. For our sake, he made him to be sin who knew no sin, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God. (2 Cor 5:20-21)

Therefore, the significance of Ash Wednesday is not limited to remind us of death and sin; it is also a loud call to overcome sin, to be converted. Both of these express collaboration with Christ. During Lent we have before our eyes the whole divine “economy” of grace and salvation.” In this time of Lent let us remember not to accept the grace of God in vain (2 Cor 6:1).

Jesus Christ himself is the most sublime grace of Lent. It is He himself who appears before us in the admirable simplicity of the Gospel, of its words and its works. He speaks to us with the might of his Gethsemane, of the judgment before Pilate, of the scourging, of the crowning with thorns, of the via crucis, of his crucifixion: with everything that can shake man’s heart. Thus, we can say: everything about Lent is countercultural.

Dear Parishioners, I would love that each one of us can pray in the same word that St. John Paul II prayed in his first Ash Wednesday as a Pope: “Filled with the depth of today’s liturgy, I, with all my Brothers and Sisters in the one faith of our Church, say to you, Christ: Have mercy on me, O God, according to thy abundant mercy blot out my transgressions. Cast me not away from thy presence, and take not thy Holy Spirit from me. Create in me a clean heart, O God, and put a new and right spirit within me. Restore to me the joy of thy salvation, and uphold me with a willing spirit (Ps 51).

I wish you all a very fruitful season of Lent.
Fr. Gustavo Nieto, IVE

The Family as First School of Human Virtues

14: Motives for Being Obedient (Part IV)

Let us now continue discussing the virtue of obedience, in which children need to be trained since their early years.

Motives for Being Obedient

"From the age of five his motivation to obey starts to change. At first he can obey with the sort of motivation which allows his obedience to be a virtue: he obeys because of his parents' authority. Even though this authority is never lost, parents need to use other complementary methods in order to get him to obey because of their authority but now understanding the process better.

From five onwards parents need to make explicit demands on their children and give reasons for those demands, so that the child obeys because he sees it reasonable to do so. He can also obey out of affection for his parents, knowing that his obedience is a way of showing that affection.

From the age of thirteen or thereabouts, it is good for obedience to be the result of a thoughtful attitude. And the motivation for obeying should be consistent with the values which the young person is beginning to apply more consciously in his life."

Our Lady's Juggler, Chapter 4

By Anatole France

"Friend Barnaby," returned the monk, "be careful what you say. There is no calling more pleasant than the monastic life. Those who lead it are occupied with the praises of God, the Blessed Virgin, and the saints; and, indeed, the religious life is one ceaseless hymn to the Lord."

Barnaby replied- "Good father, I own that I spoke like an ignorant man. Your calling cannot be in any respect compared to mine, and although there may be some merit in dancing with a penny balanced on a stick on the tip of one's nose, it is not a merit which comes within hail of your own. Gladly would I, like you, good father, sing my office day by day, and especially the office of the most Holy Virgin, to whom I have vowed a singular devotion. In order to embrace the monastic life I would willingly abandon the art by which from Soissons to Beauvais I am well known in upward of six hundred towns and villages." To be continued...

Pope Francis asks us to "make our hearts firm" (Jas 58) and to be "merciful, attentive and generous." Entrust the world to the mercy of God by reaching out to those in need. Be attentive to the Lenten call to prayer; be generous with your time and treasure. "Through prayer, charity and humility before God, people receive a heart "which is firm and merciful, attentive and generous, a heart which is not closed, indifferent or prey to the globalization of indifference," Pope Francis, Lent en Message 2015

Diocese of San Jose

Office of the Bishop

RESCRIPT

With the concurrence of Ash Wednesday and the beginning of the Lunar New Year on February 18, 2015, I hereby make the following pastoral concessions to members of the Asian communities of the Diocese of San Jose that have a tradition of celebrating the Lunar New Year:

1. For the members of those specific Asian communities, as noted above, the obligation to observe the disciplines of fast and abstinence on Ash Wednesday are dispensed. The fast that is prescribed for Ash Wednesday is transferred to Friday, February 27, 2015, which is already designated as a day of abstinence.
2. Given the custom in the Vietnamese community of celebrating the first Eucharist of the New Year on the evening preceding the first day of Tết, the celebration of Mass for Tết is allowed in the late evening of Ash Wednesday, with the stipulation that adequate opportunities for the liturgical observance of Ash Wednesday precede the celebration of Tết.

Given this eighth day of the month of January in the year 2015.
