FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

"My Mass is my life, and my life is a prolonged Mass!"

Dear Friends,

In the past couple of weeks we have discussed the grandeur and magnificence of the mass, the sacredness of it; now, I would like for us to consider its sacrificial character. We can begin with a question: is your life truly Eucharistic or is it non-Eucharistic? Let me explain.

The great work that Jesus came to accomplish was to redeem us. He accomplished this, concretely, through a sacrifice. We can say that the entire historical life of Christ is a sacrifice and a preparation for the culmination of that cruel sacrifice on Calvary.

All holiness comes from that sacrifice on Calvary, here He opens the gates to us for an outpouring of all spiritual goods. If we have a deep realization of our personal involvement in Calvary hopefully would lead to some deeper communions, more fervent participation, greater commitment: Eucharist-icizing our lives. Maybe some guiding questions will help:

Are we aware of what our union with Christ means with regard to the Father? With regard to Christ himself? With regard to our brothers and sisters? If we did we would have all of these in the Eucharist itself!

What if we went to Mass to renew the sacred drama of Calvary? And what because we want to offer ourselves in the offertory as the grains of wheat did when they were ground for the bread, or as the grapes did when they were crushed for the wine? These are brought forward to be transformed into Christ, do we ask for our transformation, that we may be "blessed, acknowledged, and approved in every respect, to made spiritual and acceptable to be transubstantiated in Christ? What if our offering would be made so attentively and conscientiously that it was a part of the sacrifices and Christian life we lead outside of the Church walls, allowing the mass to touch every sector of my life? Perhaps we could rest assured that the consecration would be the central element of our Christian life!

What if we went to the communion line, where we receive the gift of Christ Himself, everything, nothing spared, and gave to Him something in return? Do we, as Ven. Fulton Sheen rightly asks, "not only receive Communion, but give too?" He continues, "we must understand that in the mass, the communion rail is a place of exchange. The people give time and receive eternity; they give self-denial and receive life; they give nothingness and receive all. Holy Communion commits each to a closer union not only with Christ's life, but also with His death—to greater detachment from the world, to surrender of luxuries for the sake of the poor, to death of the old Adam for rebirth in Christ, the new Adam." (Priest is not His Own, 20)

If we could say yes to these questions, or maybe to at least some of them, it would bring with it a total gift of ourselves to Christ, because we realize and acknowledge Who gave Himself to me, and to my neighbors, and to my enemies. Our lives would revolve around the Eucharist. We could rightly say, inside and out, in the Mass and away from the mass (i.e., at work, at school, at home), that the Eucharist is the "source and the summit of my Christian life." (CCC 1342)

Our mere presence in the Eucharistic Sacrifice (the Mass) cultivates in us, little by little, Christ-like dispositions. And when we receive Him in Communion, this intensifies it all the more. We will begin to adopt the characteristics, the interests, and the mannerisms of the people with whom we keep company – that's a fact!

The central act of our day should be our Mass and communion received within the Mass (when possible), which is an indispensable act of every fervent Christian. In this way, the conversations I have, the cross that I wear, the charity I show in the face of persecution, all of the different parts of my life find their place and purpose in our Mass.

St. Alberto Hurtado, a great 20th Century saint once said:

"I make the Mass the center of my life. I prepare myself for it with my interior life, my sacrifices, which will be like a host of offering; I continue it during the day letting myself go and giving myself... in union with Christ.

My Mass is my life, and my life is a prolonged Mass! After communion, remain faithful to the great transformation that has taken hold of us.

To live our day as Christ, to be Christ for ourselves and for others:

That is communion!"

Mary, Our Lady of Peace, pray for us,

Fr. Brian

ANNUAL DIOCESAN APPEAL

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

Each year at this time, the parishes of the Diocese of San Jose join together in supporting the Annual Diocesan Appeal. The generosity of our parishioners makes it possible for us, through collaboration with the priests, religious and lay ministers of our Diocese, to broaden and deepen our ministry of service as members of Christ and His Church.

The Diocese of San Jose is remarkably diverse, comprised of people from many cultural and ethnic backgrounds. Each of our parish communities is unique in its welcome of appreciation of our rich diversity.

"Hand In Hand In Ministry" is the theme for our 2019 Annual Diocesan Appeal. This reminds us that, as Catholics, each of us has received the invitation to join as members of one community of faith for the works of justice, mercy, outreach and formation in our Parishes, our Diocese and the global Church.

When we come together – Hand In Hand In Ministry – we realize that we have been blessed with many gifts, and we find strength and beauty in our diversity. We celebrate our faith joyfully and ask that you consider making a gift that will help to continue these important ministries.

Your gift to the Annual Appeal provides support for key programs in and for our parishes – programs such as Faith Formation for Children and Adults, Youth and Young Adult Ministry, Marriage Preparation, Hispanic Apostolate, Liturgical and Music Minister Formation, and Tuition Assistance for our Catholic Schools. The ADA also funds the formation and ongoing education for priests, deacons and seminarians.

Thank you in advance for your prayerful consideration of this year's Appeal. We pledge to remember you, your families and loved ones in our daily prayers.

With every best wish and kind regard, we remain,

Sincerely yours,

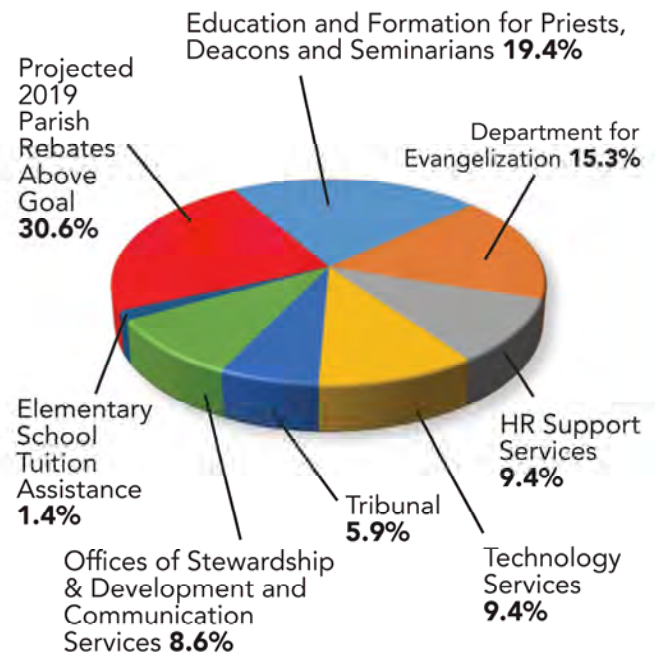

Patrick J. McGrath
Bishop of San Jose
