FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

Blessed are They Who Hunger and Thirst For Righteousness, For they Will Be Satisfied

Dear Friends,

"Blessed are they who hunger and thirst for righteousness, for they will be satisfied."

I imagine that there are some of you, when reading this, may scratch your heads. Okay, poverty of spirit, meekness, purity of heart, I get that these things are Christ-like. But righteousness, really? Yes.

Do not get righteousness confused with "self-righteousness," which is a pejorative term that indicates that one is totally correct or morally superior. There is a new term floating around these days that means more or less the same thing, "virtue signaling." It is done however in the reverse direction, consisting in saying that one hates things, which emphasizes on hate and distracting the listener to the fact that one is really saying how good they are, according to journalist James Bartholomew, the one credited with popularizing the term. Basically, nobody wants to get caught signaling that they are virtuous.

This Beatitude is none of this. The Beatitude speaks to a deep and sincere desire—a hunger—for holiness, the one and only true righteousness. To put it frankly, the one who hungers for this is hungering for sainthood. As the French poet Leon Bloy famously writes, the only real sadness, the only real failure, the only great tragedy in life, is not to become a saint." If we reverse this, in light of the Beatitude, we may say, "the only real happiness, the only real success, the only great joy in life, is to become a saint."

Blessed are you when you strive for righteousness!

Peter Kreeft, writing about this fourth beatitude of Christ, says that "it cuts to the rotten flesh at the heart of the modern world." He directs this towards the misguided values of our very own culture, "The greatest good, according to our culture's primary prophets, is self-esteem, self-satisfaction. Christ shocks us by blessing dissatisfaction, not the dissatisfaction with our place in the world, not worldly ambition, the profit motive, the American Dream, hunger for glory, honor, fame, power, wealth or success, but hunger and thirst for righteousness, for sanctity — dissatisfaction with our sins, passionate thirst for a sanctity we know we do not have, and know we must have.

There is one thing in the lives of all the saints that turns us off, and cuts us off, from perhaps the single most effective evangelistic weapon in the Church's arsenal — using the lives of the saints — and that is the saints' passionate insistence that they are great sinners, and their insistent passion for holiness. It's not that we do not admire holiness; it's that we do not admire the passion for holiness, the hunger and thirst for righteousness."

Ironically, this seems to have become one of the "mortal sins" of our age, striving for virtue. It creates too much distinction and division. Striving for virtue, seeking to be Christ-like, in some way has become an offense. Perhaps we may better state that it has always been an offense, an offense at the mediocrity or duplicity or hypocrisy of others. Self-righteousness walks in line with hypocrisy. Righteousness does not. And to condemn righteousness or the pursuit thereof, simply because of the learning curve that it entails—a mixture of successes and failures—would be the same as condemning the person who is learning any art or skill of any shape or form. It just so happens to be the case that the pursuit of righteousness, because of its subject-matter, can be counted as the art of arts, which like any art takes time and repetition.

Returning to Kreeft one last time, "What Christ blesses, we curse as fanaticism, our soft, sophisticated culture's worst insult. But this is Christ's blessing. More than a blessing, it is a requirement. It is what our Lord requires us to be in order to be his, that is, to be a saint, that is, a fanatic, to love one thing infinitely, to put all our eggs in his basket. It contains only one pearl of great price. He uses a shocking word for our Laodicean niceness: "Because you are neither hot nor cold I will spit you out of my mouth." He is content with us only if we are discontent with ourselves."

As we heard in the first reading this past Wednesday, from the mouth of the prophet Elijah, "How long will you straddle the issue? If the LORD is God, follow him;..." (1 KGS 18:21) Based upon how the world reacted to the righteousness of Christ, we can expect that we will be rejected and persecuted, challenged and ridiculed, but it will be for love of God, love of enemy and brother alike, for the sake of righteousness. Perhaps the world needs less self-righteousness and more selflessly righteous people. Let's pray for that!

Mary, Our Lady of Peace, pray for us,
Fr. Brian

ACT OF SPIRITUAL COMMUNION

My Jesus,
I believe that You are present in the Most Holy Sacrament.
I love You above all things,
and I desire to receive You into my soul.
Since I cannot at this moment
receive You sacramentally, come at least spiritually into my heart. I embrace You as if You were already there and unite myself wholly to You. Never permit me to be separated from You.
Amen.

What is a Spiritual Communion?

St. Thomas Aquinas once defined Spiritual Communion as "an ardent desire to receive Jesus in the Most Holy Sacrament and in lovingly embracing Him as if we had actually received Him." You just need to approach Him with sincerity, humility and a desire to follow in His footsteps in acts of faith and charity. St. Jean-Marie Vianney, a French priest famous for converting countless souls to Christ in his parish of Ars in the 19th century, once said "when we feel the love of God growing cold, let us instantly make a Spiritual Communion. When we cannot go to the church, let us turn towards the tabernacle; no wall can shut us out from the good God."

PARISH REGISTRATION

Are You a Registered Parishioner?

If you attend Mass here regularly, we encourage you to register as a parishioner of Our Lady of Peace parish.

Why registering is important:

1. If we as a parish do not know who is out there, how can we serve the needs of all?

This includes single people or young families who may not see the need to register.

2. Make Sacrament prep easier when the time comes.

If you're not a registered parishioner, this may greatly delay the process for Sacrament prep.

3. Letters of Recommendation

There are occasions where letters of recommendations are needed from your parish pastor (ie Catholic school enrollment, scholarships, godparent eligibility, etc.). If you're not registered, we cannot provide this letter.

Anyone, regardless of where they live is welcome to register at OLOP.

Please note: there is a three (3) month waiting period from the date of registration before being considered a full-fledged registered parishioner. Any requests for pastor signatures on any forms, letters, or wedding preparation paperwork cannot not be processed within the 3 months.

To register, call 408-988-4585, or email us at info@olop-shrine.org for a registration form.
